

Did You Ever

“Did you ever have to make up your mind?”
That is the way the song goes

“Say yes to one and leave the other behind”
That is the way real life goes

“It’s not often easy and not often kind...”
That is the way consequence goes

We all have wants and desires
Too often they conflict with needs

What I need and what I want seldom match
It’s not because there is no dream to catch

Even kings dream of other occupations
Even beggars dream with small expectations

I can consume my life with wants and desires
Or I can see the vanity and douse the fires

There is little to know and little to loose
If a person chooses to not choose

Or not to want
Or not to desire

Did you ever?

Copyright © 2007 Norm MacDonald